

The Electronic Village Online 2010 Sessions Call for Participation

Edited from an email sent by Aiden Yeh, on behalf of the EVO Coordination Team.

EVO is now back with new sessions that could be of interest to some of you. Kindly forward this call for participation in other list-servs you belong to or pass it on to colleagues or friends whom you think could benefit from these professional development events that will take place in early 2010.

The CALL Interest Section of the International TESOL professional association is pleased to offer the opportunity to participate in the Electronic Village Online (EVO) 2010 sessions. This is a professional development project and virtual extension of the TESOL 2010 Convention in Boston, Massachusetts. The intended audience for this project includes both TESOL 2010 participants and those who can participate only virtually.

You do not need to be a TESOL member to participate in a free, six-week, wholly online session of the EVO, January 11-February 21, 2010.

Please visit our Announcement Web page to select one among the various offerings.

http://evosessions.pbworks.com/Call_for_Participation2010